The portfolio is rebalanced on a quarterly basis to ensure it remains consistent with the blend parameters.

WHO THIS PORTFOLIO IS SUITABLE FOR

MANAGER'S COMMENTARY

Investors' attention has been heavily focused on the US election, the result of which was announced after the month end. Donald Trump was elected on a platform of tax cuts and deregulation, and US equities rose sharply to hit record highs. However, concerns remain about whether talk of trade tariffs is a policy commitment or simply a negotiating tool. Elsewhere, the European Central Bank (ECB) announced its third interest rate cut and, in the UK, Chancellor Rachel Reeves unveiled a Budget that was not as radical as many expected, but still increased volatility in markets. The Chinese leadership continued to make policy announcements designed to support the nation's faltering economy. However, they have disappointed markets, which were looking for greater impact.

The equity fund maintained an overweight position to UK equities, reflective to its benchmark, and this detracted from performance during October. The UK equity market has more of a bias to utilities, energy, and banks, and tends to perform better in volatile markets, and valuations are attractive relative to other equity regions, but this position was heavily impacted by speculation on the UK Budget. In the US performance of the largest technology companies (achieved via the NASDAQ 100 ETF) and S&P 500 Equally Weighted Exchange Traded Fund, represented a broader exposure in the US, was mixed, and neither exposure particularly led this month. Gold continued to perform well versus a broader commodities index, and this provides further diversification within the portfolio.

The fixed interest fund has held more exposure in UK government bonds than the comparator benchmark*, and this detracted from performance during October, largely on the speculation of the UK Budget. This causes bond yields** to rise, which negatively impacts their price. The market is not expecting a severe slowdown in the economy, so high yield bonds and investment grade corporate bonds continue to perform well. Man GLG Sterling Corporate Bond is a flexible strategy, and has outperformed its benchmark throughout 2024.

* Benchmark – comparator for performance purposes.

** Yield is the annualised expected return of holding a bond to maturity.
